

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 2

- 12:00 Melissa Weiss, Asheville, NC, Booth 626: Melissa is a ceramic artist who creates beautiful objects that are functional & utilitarian without a wheel and from clay she digs herself. She will demonstrate how to carve a cup from a solid block of clay.
- 1:00 Ben Caldwell, Nashville, TN, Booth 516: Metal artist, Ben Caldwell, creates functional art that will grace your dining table. He will demonstrate the process of sinking, raising and planishing a small copper bowl.
- 2:00 Steven Ford, Philadelphia, PA, Booth 410: Using just a few common kitchen tools, Steve will demonstrate a range of techniques using polymer, wood, glass, and other materials to create his sophisticated, yet playful, jewelry.
- 2:00 Christy Klug, Chicago, IL, Booth 111: Christy, whose work is an exploration of line, minimal or dense, pierced or drawn, will demonstrate how she shapes and marks on metal to create her unique jewelry.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 3

- 12:00 Jennifer McCurdy, Vineyard Haven, MA, Booth 509: Jennifer will demonstrate how she carves her porcelain vessels to make intricate designs expressing light and shadow. She will answer any questions about the process of wheel-thrown, high-fire porcelain.
- 1:00 Fashion Show Event: Join us for a show of fashion, jewelry, and accessories, all from our Show floor.
- 2:00 Kristy Kún, Portland, OR, Booth 428: A fiber artist who uses wool and plant fibers, Kristy will demonstrate her unique felting process for creating richly textured surfaces that translate energy and textures from nature into new forms.
- 3:00 Shirley Gromen, Arlington, VA, Booth 120: Shirley, a ceramicist, incorporates graphic images from Chesapeake Bay with 3-dimensional forms. She will demonstrate the application of terra sigillata to a ceramic vessel and the use of carving, mishima and sgraffito techniques to embellish her surfaces.

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 4

12:00-3:00

Stop in and enjoy some stitching with Rittenhouse Needlepoint. Representatives will be on site to share all aspects of needlepoint: the art of painting with thread.
